RINGSIDE ROUNDUP

When she's not ringside, Woman sits around all day and hatches up more insidious schemes.

Since our last issue there has been plenty of Ringside action all over the country. For starters, "Mr. Perfect" is back to his winning ways. Since winning the Intercontinental title, the man who claims to be perfect has been just that! The way Hennig is going, it doesn't look like he'll ever be defeated!

Sting is back in action and looking better than ever. The sensational Sting is looking forward to his match against Ric Flair in Baltimore. In fact, Sting says, "When that match is over, I will be champion!"

The Legion of Doom, Animal and Hawk are now knocking them dead in the WWF. Since entering the federation, the former Road Warriors have taken the area by storm. Everyone is talking about them and this, in turn, has brought the crowds back to the arenas in record numbers. Expect the Legion of Doom to win the WWF tag team title.

Another babe flockes to the Beach. SUNNY Beach, that is!

Have you seen El Gigante? The giant stands 7'6" and was formerly on the Argentina National Basketball team. Although he didn't have the moves to cut it in the NBA, with the proper seasoning, the Giant could be big in the NWA.

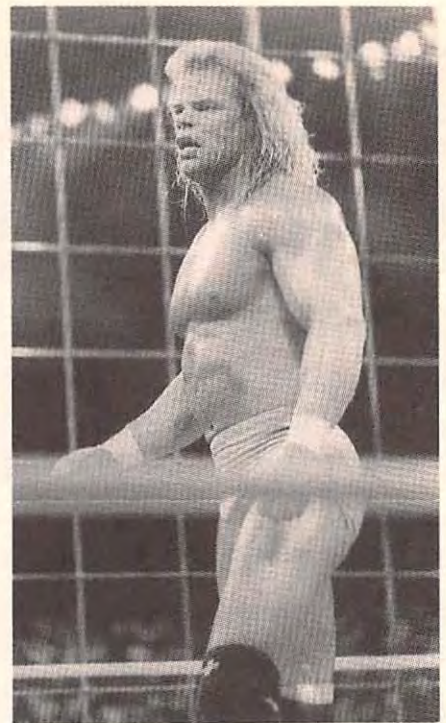

Sexy Sunny Beach has been getting quite a bit of national press. Not too long ago, the Weekly World News ran a piece on the problems that the "Sexy One" has been having with female fans. Talk about problems! Ever since the story ran, Sunny has been literally besieged by female admirers everywhere he goes. It's gotten so bad, that Sunny's "Beach Bunnies" are now extremely jealous over Sexy Sunny's new-found animal magnetism.

Can you believe how far the mighty Hulk Hogan has fallen? Since losing in the center ring to the Ultimate Warrior, the Hulk hasn't been the same. In fact, it's gotten so bad that now the Hulk can't even beat the Canadian Earthquake. Over the years many ex-champions have experienced the same kind of slump after losing a major title. Hopefully, the Hulk will bounce back. We'll just have to wait and see.

"Mr. Wonderful" Paul Orndorff is now doing his thing in the NWA. It's good to see him back in the spotlight. But, truthfully, Orndorff is at least four years removed from his prime.

Tommy Rich is another man getting a major push in the NWA. Although Tommy has shed at least 40 pounds and is in excellent shape, it's been nearly a decade since his last major title.

AWA Champion Larry Zbyszko continues to challenge both Ric Flair and the Ultimate Warrior, claiming that they are scared to wrestle him. The so-called "Living Legend" must be kidding!

Nikita Koloff has challenged Zbyszko to a two-out-of-three fall bout with an impartial referee. Imagine if Tully Blanchard wrestled Zbyszko with the same stipulation and the impartial arbitration turned out to be commissioner Joe Blanchard! Now that would be something!

The Boogie Woogie Man, Jimmy Valiant and the "King" Jerry Lawler have been slugging it out in the USWA. In their battles the title has changed hands several times.

Nitron, the former body-guard of Woman, is wrestling in the USWA.

The latest wrestling promotion is the Western Wrestling Alliance. Ivan Putski is the man behind the scenes of the WWA.

That's all for now. Please look for us Ringside! ★

FANS SPEAK OUT

MORE MIMI!

Dear RINGSIDE:

How about some more photos of the ladies? I love wrestling, but after a while, one gets tired of looking at those sweaty guys. For starters, let's get a shot of Magnificent Mimi!

Capt. Tom Davis
Portland, ME

(Ed. Note: Happy to oblige, Cap!)

WHO NEEDS HENNIG?

Dear RINGSIDE:

Let's talk about Curt "Mr. Wonderful" Hennig.

First of all, anyone who was really perfect would know enough not to use that name!

Secondly, he can't fight his way out of an open field! The only reason he has won as much as he has is that some lame wrestlers fear his "reputation." They don't realize what a phony he is. Anyone paying attention would know that his moves are simply those of a showman and not of a fighter!

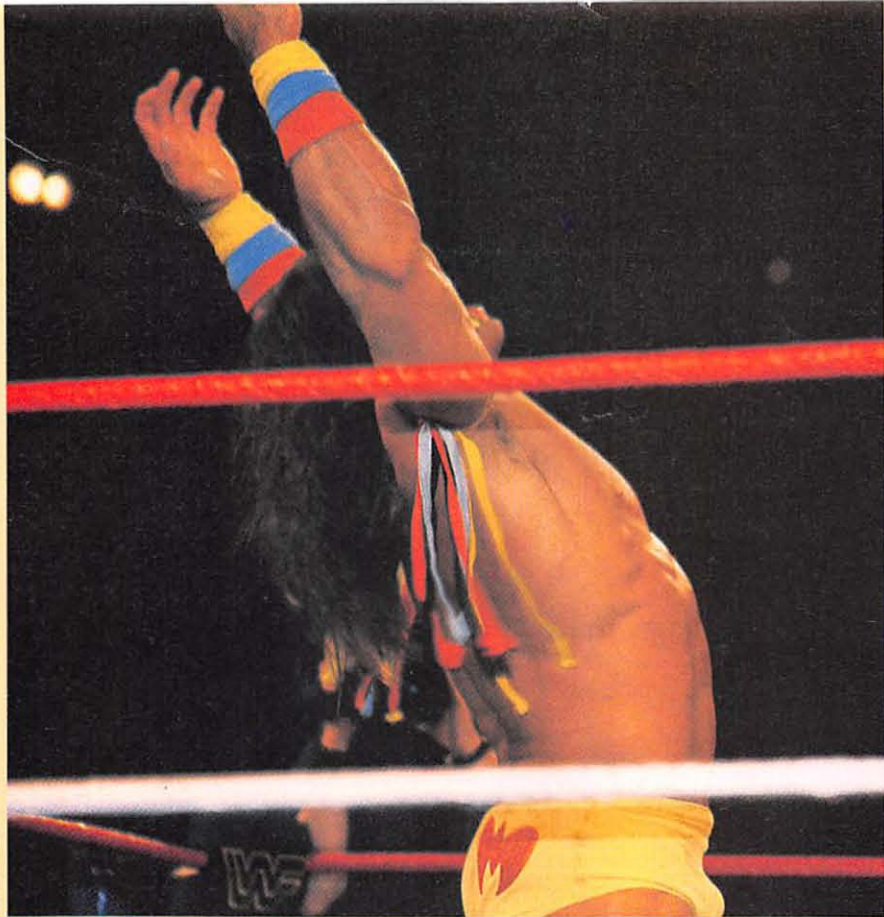

Lastly, his smug, obnoxious face makes me vomit! I'd like to tell him that in person, but I'm afraid I'd toss my lunch first!

Holly Black
Tecumseh, GA

Curt Hennig—ya gotta love him! Or do you?

If Mimi doesn't get your blood racing, better check your pulse!

Like it or not, the Ultimate Warrior reigns supreme!

WARPAINT!

Dear RINGSIDE:

I saw Wrestlemania VI, and even though the Warrior won, the Hulk put up one helluva fight! He even knocked the paint off the Warrior's face! Ouch!

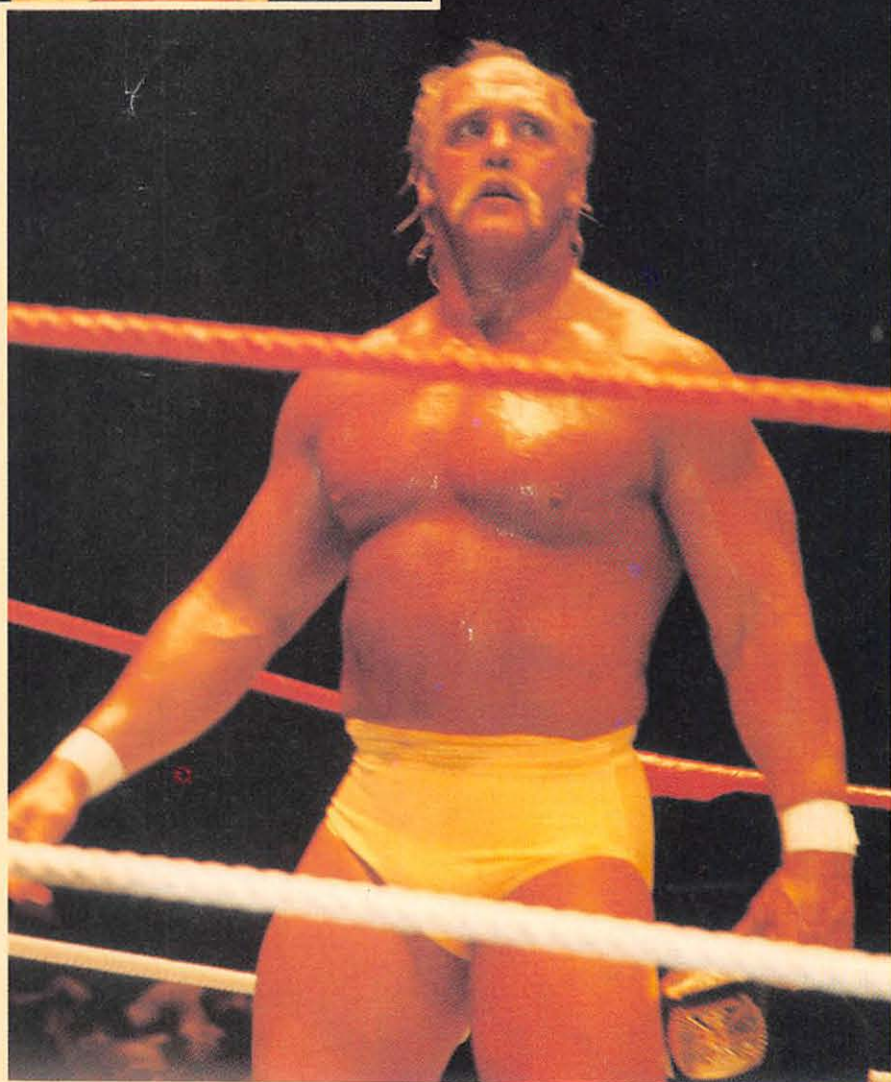

Sue Hendrickson
Rutland, CA

WHO NEEDS HULK?

Dear RINGSIDE:

I have never seen Hulk Hogan as helpless as he was at Wrestlemania VI. Now that the Ultimate Warrior is the heavyweight champion, the WWF is going to be better. I hear Hogan is going to retire. I hope so—he's nothing but a braggart. I would be perfectly happy never seeing him again.

Tony Blondell
Baltimore, MD

WRESTLEMANIA WITNESS!

Dear RINGSIDE:

I had the pleasure of being RINGSIDE (well, actually, my seats weren't great, but who cares?) at Wrestlemania VII! It was great! I wonder how many RINGSIDE readers had a chance to go? It was my first Wrestlemania, but you can bet it won't be my last!

Keep up the great work!

Del Marcus
Toronto, Ontario

Nice try, Hulk!

Bam Bam Bigelow's Bloody Legacy! RED CANVAS!

By DON LAIBLE

Now, I ask you—doesn't Bam Bam Bigelow have a face only a mother could love? There isn't a compassionate bone in his body. Destruction is what this Asbury Park, New Jersey native is all about. He's not satisfied just defeating opponents, not by a long shot. He makes them suffer! This viciousness has become his trademark in the ring. Naturally strong and well-educated in the art of scientific wrestling, Bam Bam Bigelow remains one of the most difficult-to-contain competitors in the National Wrestling Alliance. With Sir Oliver Humperdink steering his career, the 6'3" 380 lb. wrestler remains doubly dangerous to those who bravely accept his challenges. On his rise to the top, Bigelow plans to own the United States and World's Heavyweight Championship belts. Enroute to the titles, Bam Bam sadistically busts heads, cracks shoulders and gouges eyeballs to make the trek that much more rewarding. Never in the history of the NWA has such a blood-hungry and life-threatening athlete been unleashed upon unsuspecting foes.

Ever since Bigelow returned to NWA mat wars this past spring, fans and fellow wrestlers have discovered that his attitude hasn't changed from when he first toured. It's been business as usual, maiming and crippling opponents while barely working up a sweat. Evil; that just about sums up Bam Bam Bigelow's disposition. However, as wild as Bigelow can be, he is at times perplexing. Just by watching two minutes of him in action, it becomes quite clear how much excruciating pain he is capable of administering, regardless of his opponents' size. In addition, Bam Bam has proven to be well versed in the scientific maneuvers of the sport. Much of that knowledge can be credited to the time Bigelow spends in the Orient. Under contract to New Japan Wrestling Promotions, he learned very early on that if he didn't catch on with the Japanese style, one that emphasizes conditioning and relies on high-risk aerial maneuvers and the usage of technically difficult holds, he wouldn't survive long with the promotion.

Bam Bam walks to a beat all his own. Save your breath, 'cause there's no telling him anything. When speaking directly to him, even by making suggestions, you're putting your health in jeopardy. Say the wrong thing, and you'll find your tongue in your hands. By choice, Bigelow prefers, in American rings, to use strong-arm tactics to overpower challengers. Loud screams of pain from his helpless, bloodied foes are music to his ears.

Although a pro for the past six years, Bam Bam continues to conduct his deadly business inside the ring ropes as an accomplished veteran of two bloody decades. In the sporting world, Bigelow is known as a phenom. Not a lot of coaching or practice was required for him to reach the top of his profession. And good fortune has come his way almost immediately since he graduated from "Pretty Boy" Larry Sharpe's Monster Factory wrestling school. Less than a month of pro matches to his credit and Bigelow was involved in main events for promotions in Texas and Tennessee.

Musician Bruce Springsteen, known by his fans as The Boss, also hails from Asbury Park, N.J. But, if Springsteen and members of his band ever decided to battle Bigelow for the title of The Boss, Bigelow would most certainly capture that crown, outnumbered or not. Leaving an extended Asbury Park stay, as well as commitments with regional independent promoters, to return to the NWA was a snap decision for Bam Bam. A telephone call from Kevin Sullivan is all it took. Sullivan was looking for a partner of Bigelow's stature to wrestle side-by-side with Cactus Jack Manson. The Slaughter House, the tag NWA officials put on Kevin's wrestling stable, became complete after signing Bigelow. Sir Oliver Humperdink couldn't have been more pleased with the possibilities presented to him and his protegee.

The bad news came quickly to the scores of athletes doing

defying gravity with the extended hang time he generates.

No NWA star is excluded from Bam Bam's plan of destruction. Everyone is fair game to Bigelow, Humberdink and Sullivan. Sting, the Steiner Brothers and Lex Luger are pretty good bets to be first in line for beatings from Bam Bam. That's a tall order, but Bigelow's past accomplishments attest to the fact that he is certainly capable of defeating all of them, plus more. Humberdink clearly stated that neither he nor Bigelow have any problems with The Four Horsemen and that they respect them greatly. But should either member of the group make any overtures concerning possible singles matches with him, Bigelow would be only too glad to put some knots in their heads with his massive fists.

Sir Oliver Humberdink is a cagey negotiator. It may take him some time to line up the exact competition Bam Bam wishes for, but he has never taken "No" for an answer from promoters. Since returning to the NWA, Bigelow has enjoyed what he calls a "homecoming." Seeing mat action in Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Albany and Syracuse has put Bam Bam at ease. He feels confident knowing men such as Kevin Sullivan and Cactus Jack will back him up if and when an overwhelming situation arises. Bam Bam dismembered Ranger Ross during a match in Shelby, North Carolina that lasted less than two minutes. After smashing Ross' head open on the mat, as if hammering a grapefruit, Bam Bam, for the first time in his NWA days, used the figure four leg-lock to force his opponent into submission.

The next evening, feeling confident from his easy outing with Ranger Ross, Bigelow teamed with Manson in Philadelphia and took the championship caliber duo of Tom Zenk and Brian Pillman to a twenty minute draw. Bam Bam worked over Pillman during the first five minutes of action to the extent that the bones in Pillman's left arm were virtually puncturing through the skin. A series of pain-inducing legdrops on the arm plus two blood-letting diving headbutts put Bigelow's team at an early advantage. Only Tom Zenk's sleeper hold, applied on Manson (which slowed the pace of the match considerably at the fifteen minute mark), enabled him and Brian to hold onto the time limit. Bam Bam has so much energy to burn off in a wrestling match that he doesn't pace himself. Attack, attack, attack—that's his motto.

Bam Bam Bigelow does the dictating, and the rest of those in the NWA are finding out that it's best to listen, or else! His challengers don't get out of his clutches easily. Before pouncing on them for the pin, Bam Bam toys with them, often knocking their lungs empty of oxygen and permanently damaging several vital internal organs in the process.

"No matter what, Bigelow is going to put wrestlers in the hospital," says Ricky Morton. "We just have to find a better way to deal with him. But most importantly, no wrestler should back down from him. After all, he is human. Isn't he?" ★

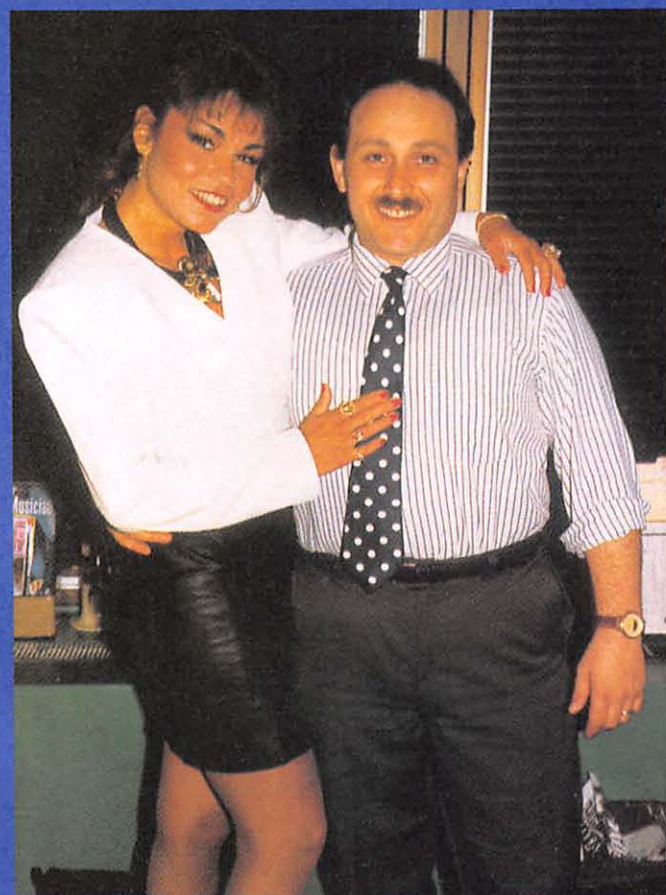

Bigelow's manager, Sir Oliver Humberdink, shows off the most amazing tattoo in wrestling!

THE NWA COMES TO NEW JERSEY!

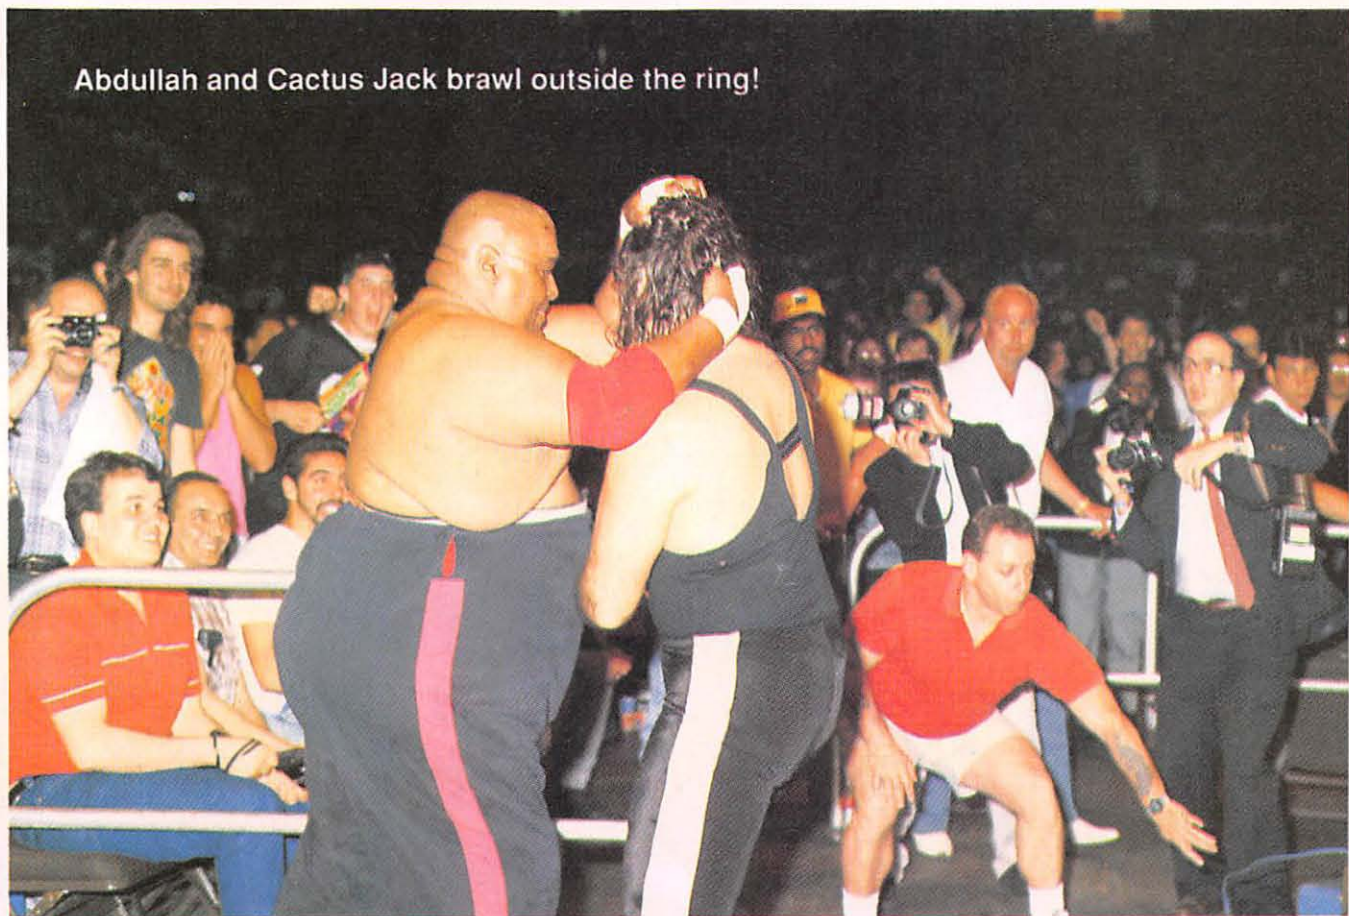

In case you missed the recent NWA card at the Meadowlands Arena in New Jersey (which is understandable if you come from someplace other than Jersey), RINGSIDE editor George Napolitano took these great pictures. It may not be as good as being there in person, but it's close. Here, Mean Mark wraps Captain Mike Rotunda up in an ever-tightening headlock!

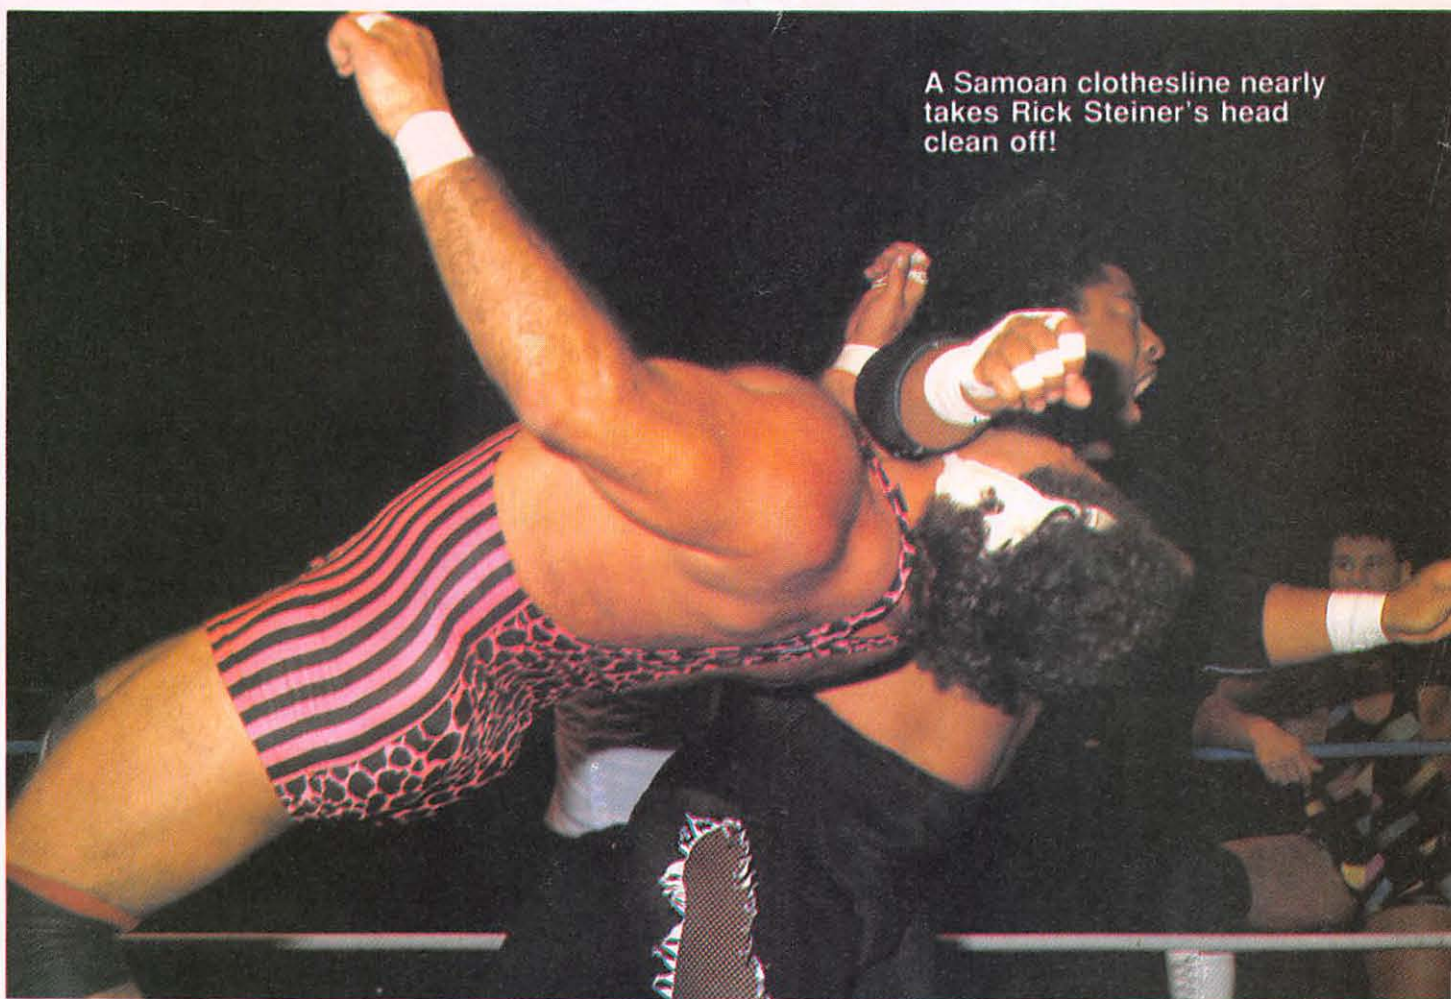

A headbutt from Abdullah the Butcher sends Kevin Sullivan flying out of the ring!

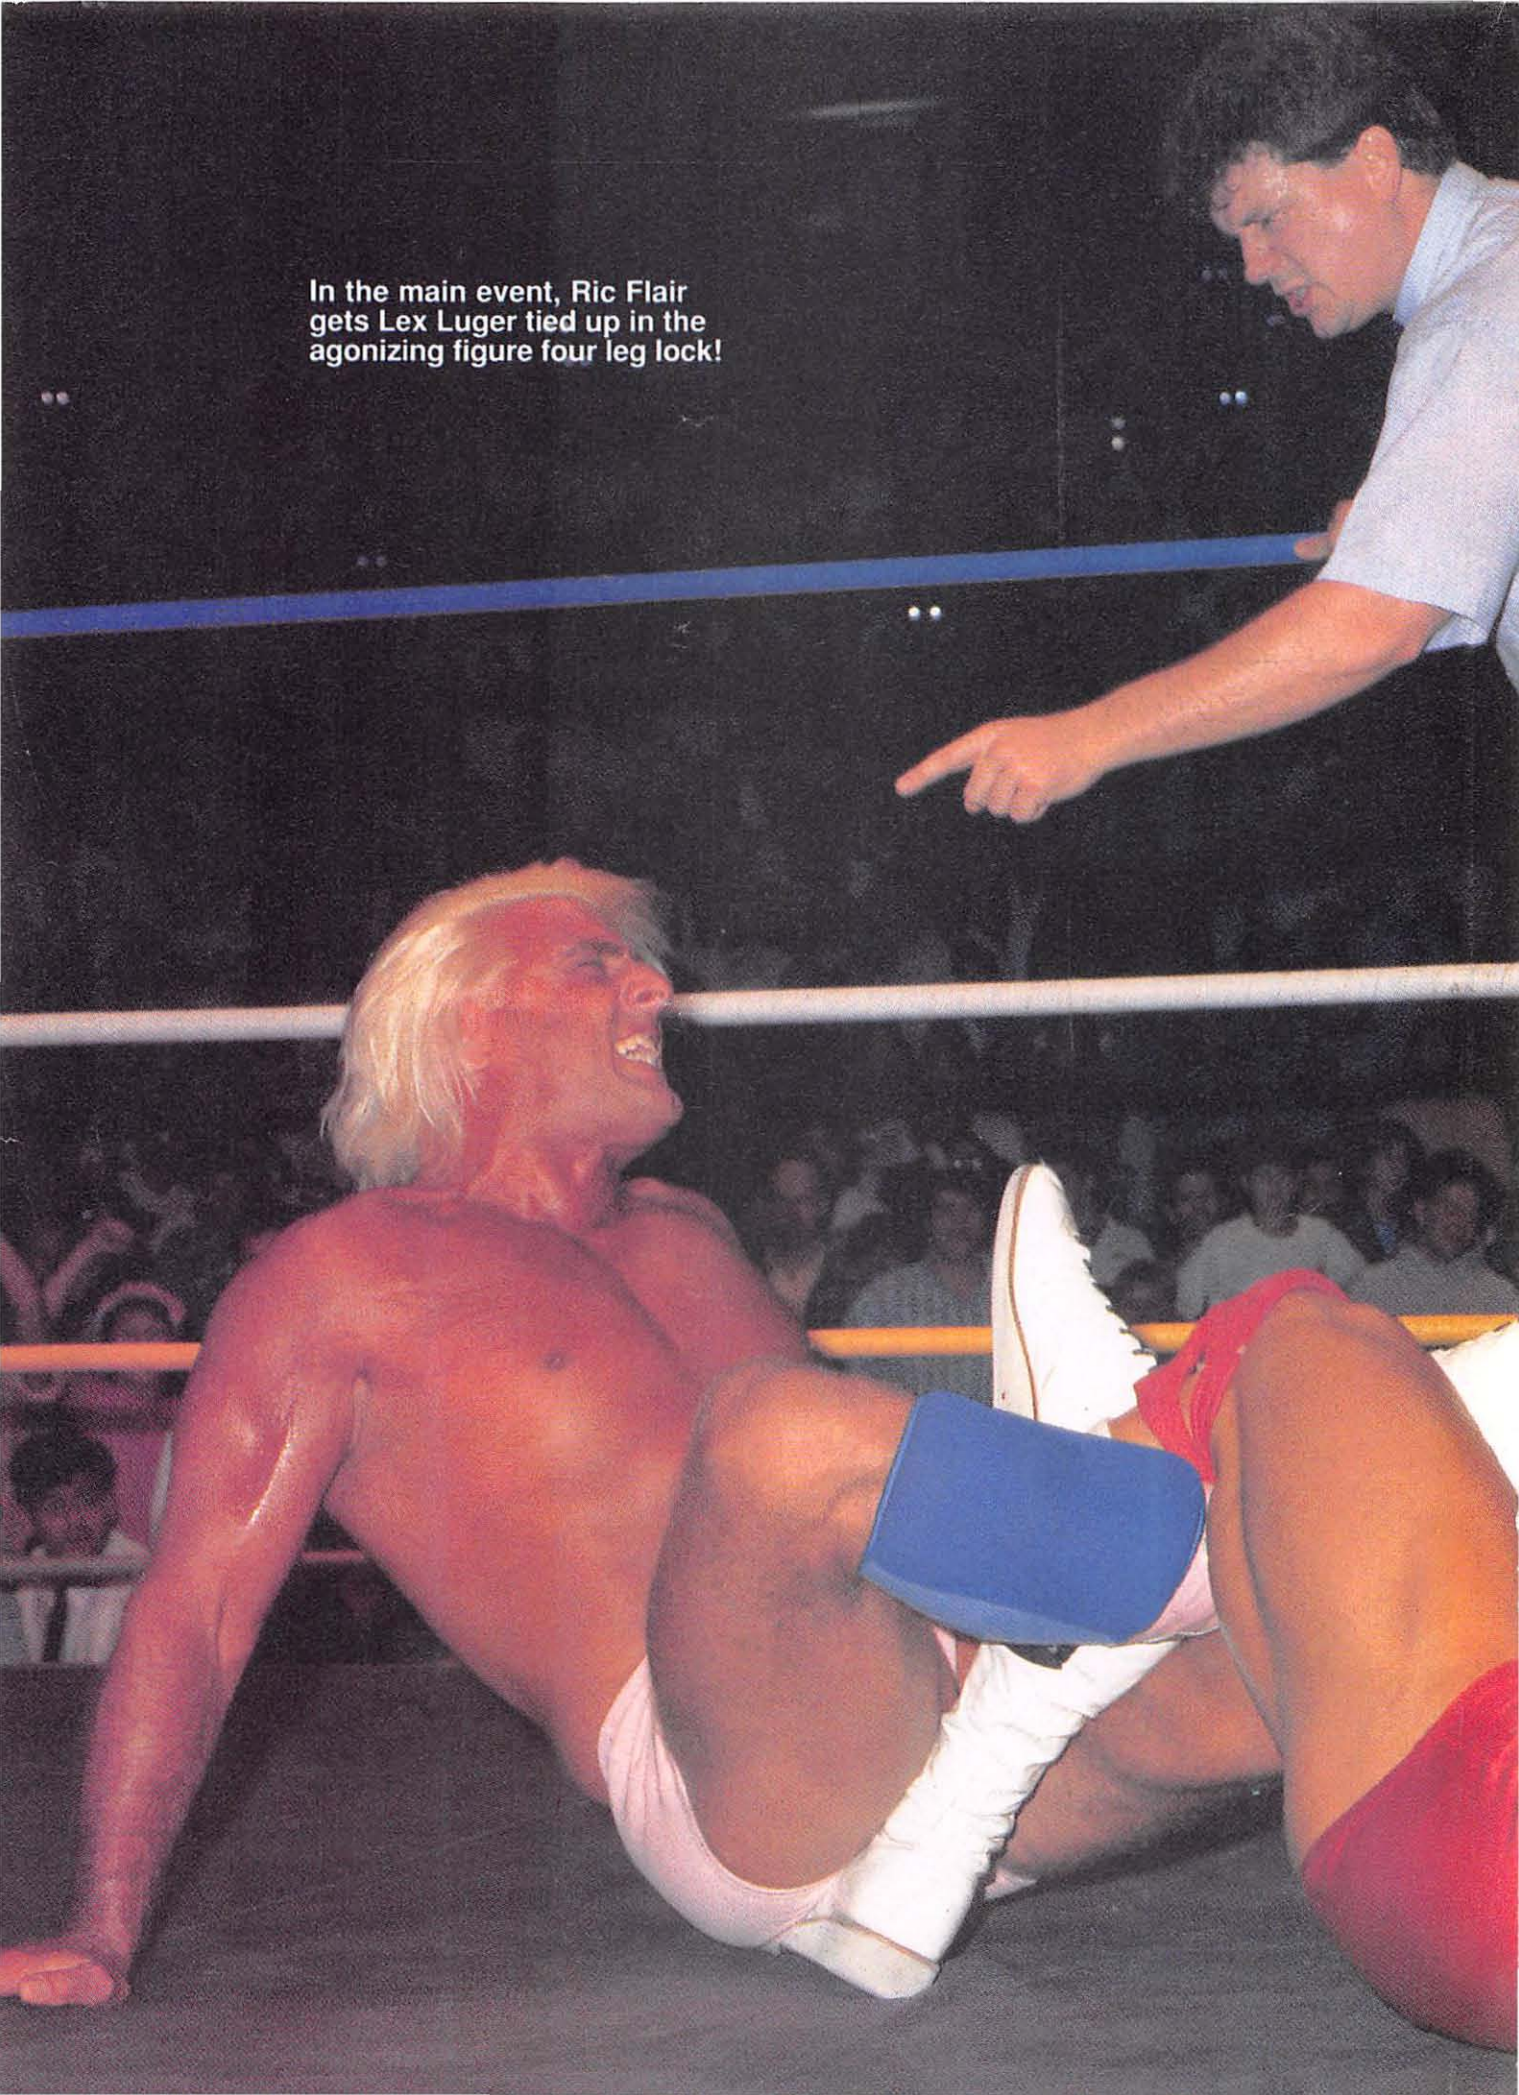

Abdullah and Cactus Jack brawl outside the ring!

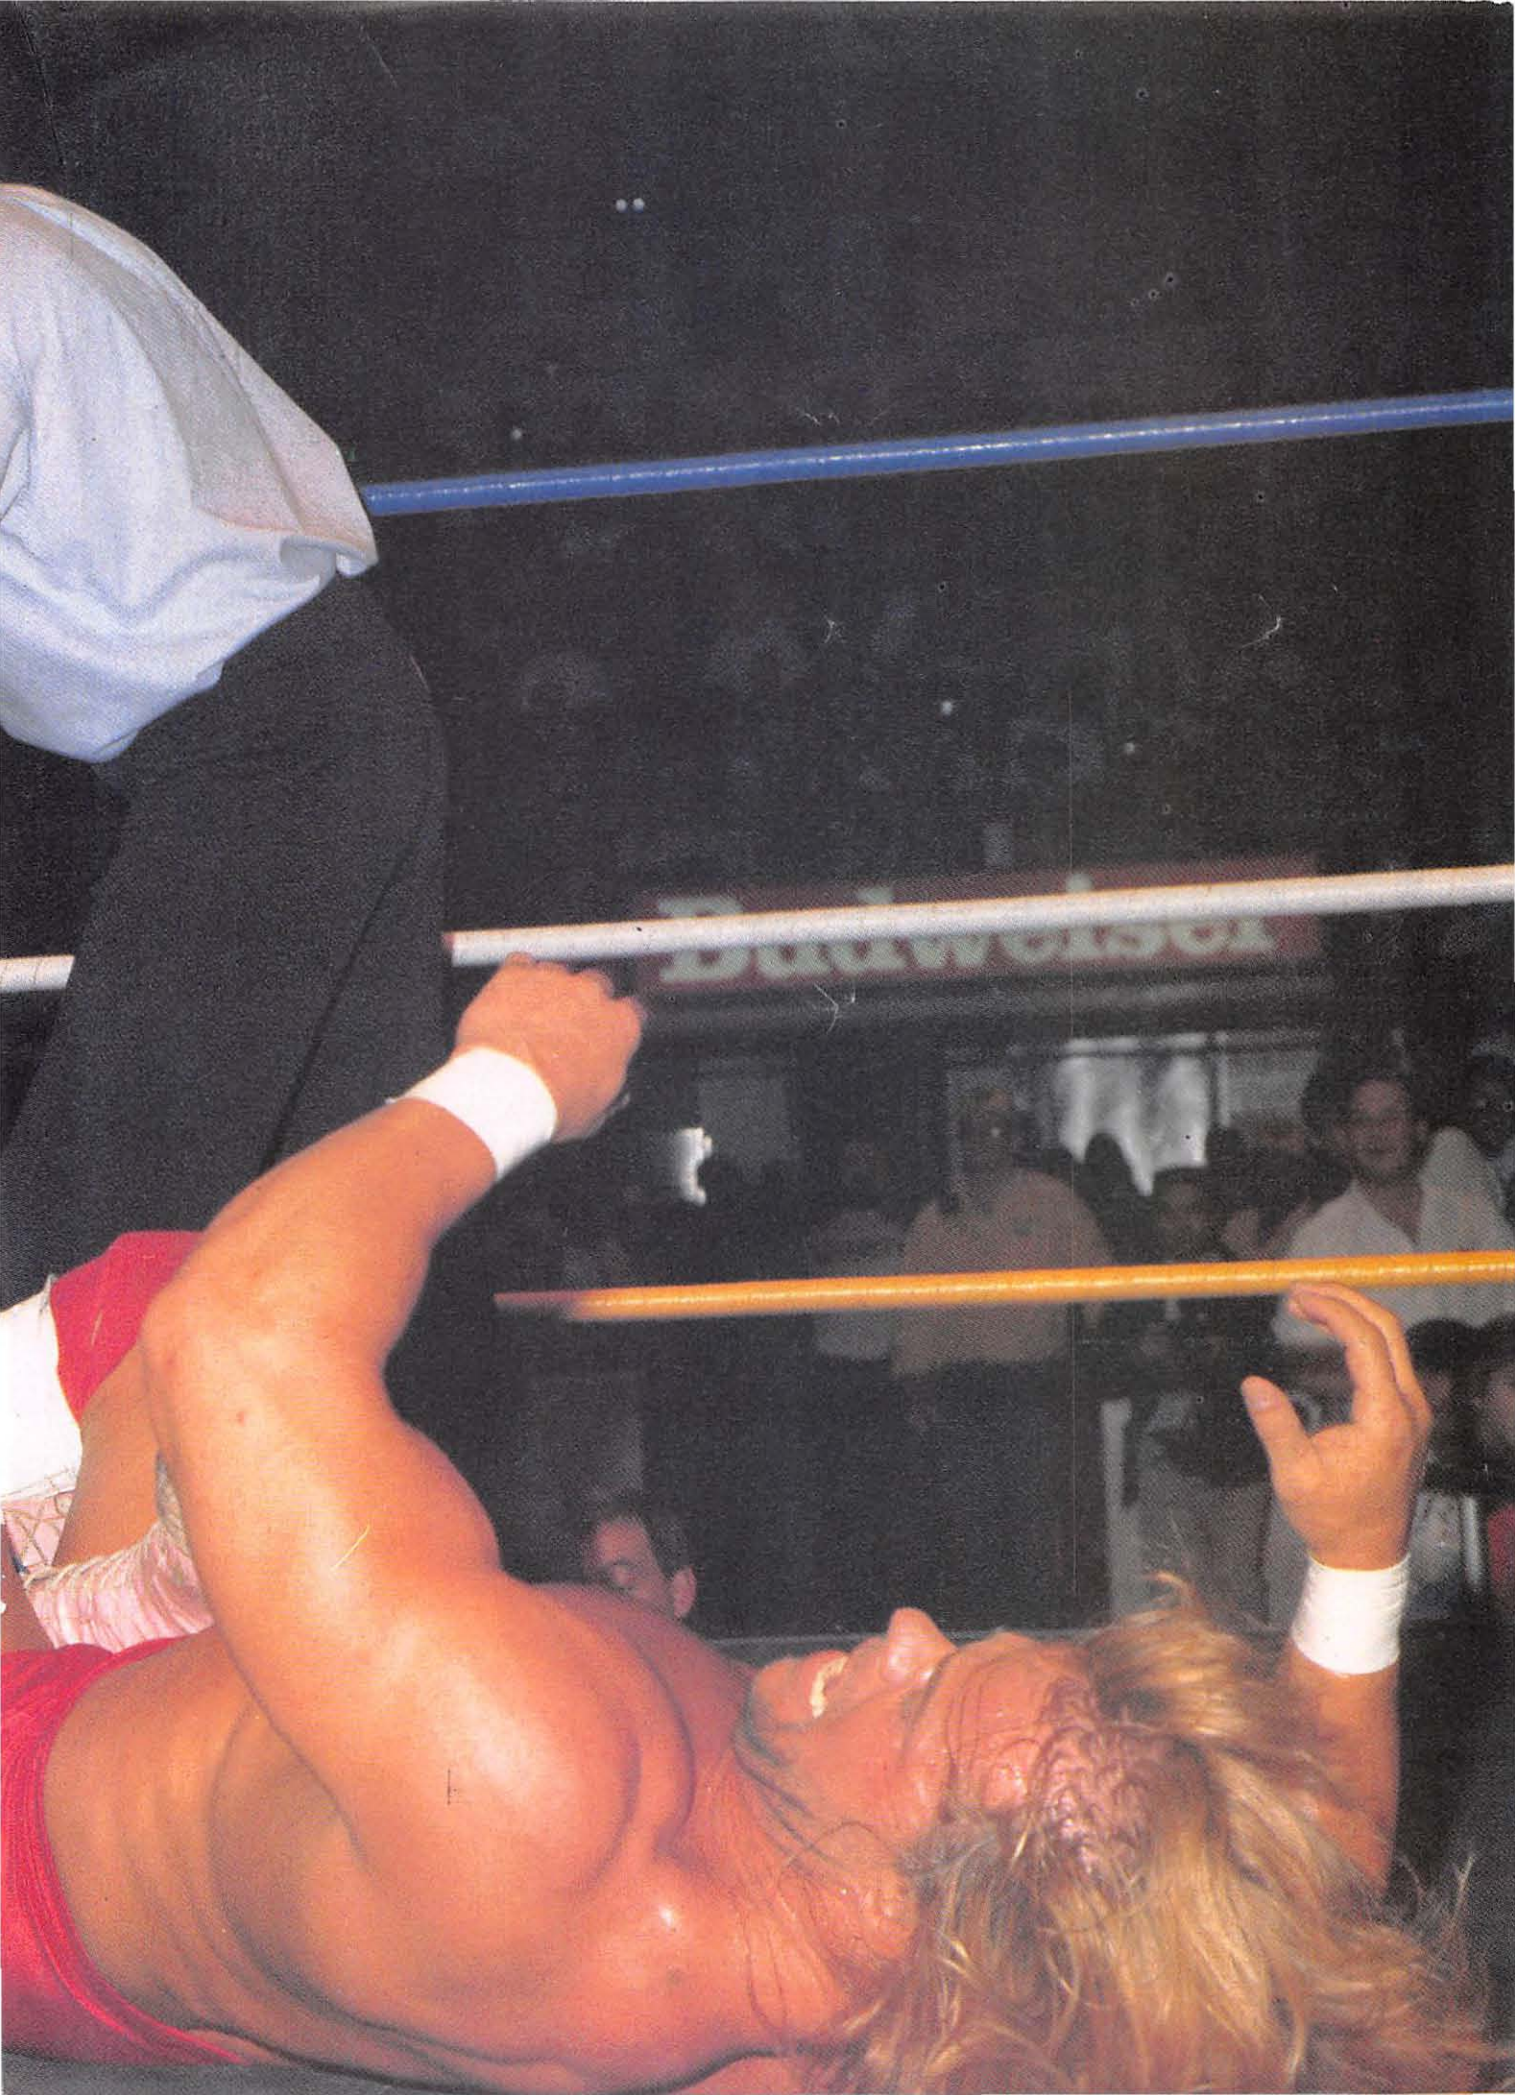

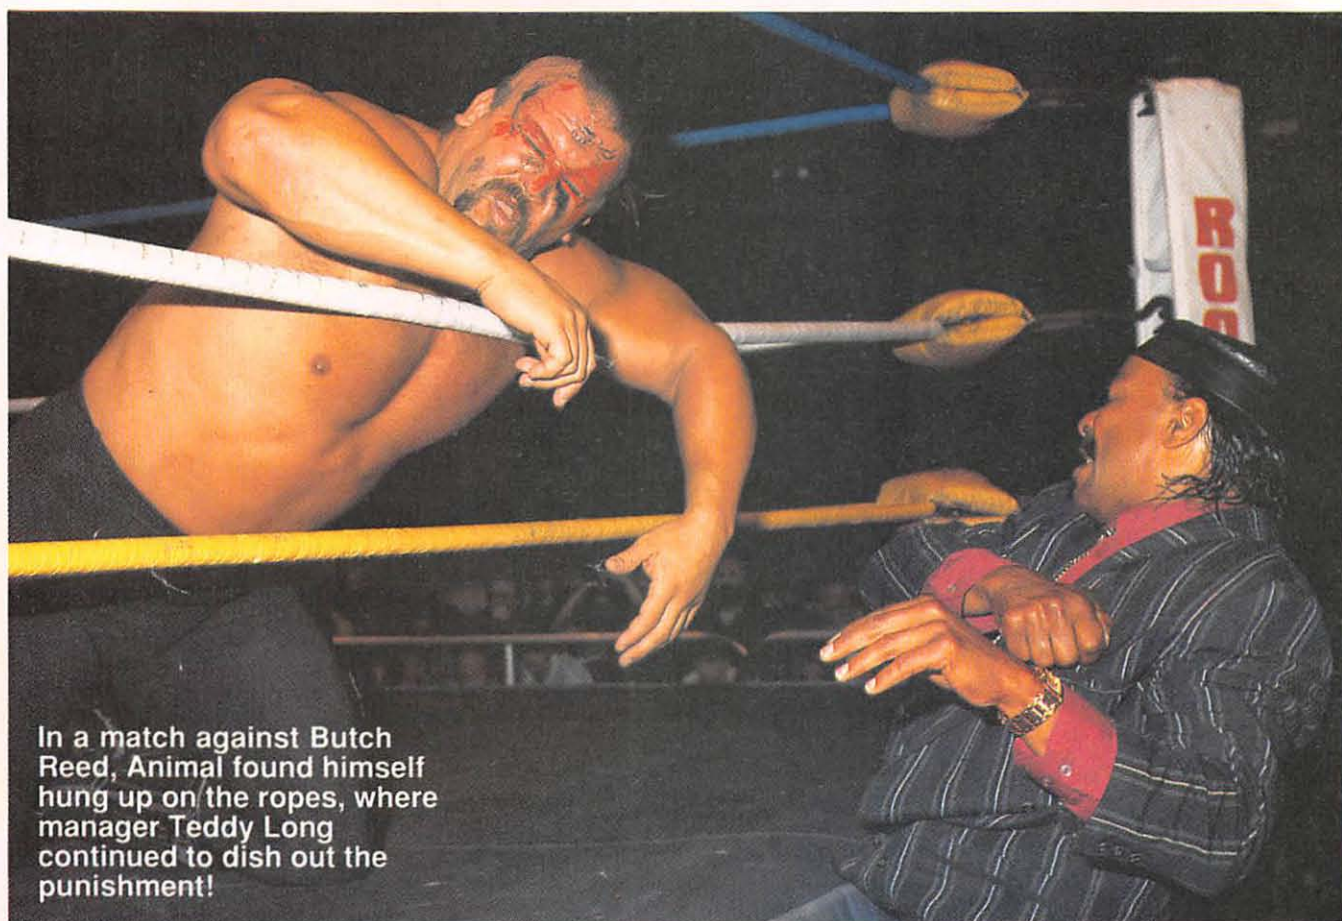

A Samoan clothesline nearly takes Rick Steiner's head clean off!

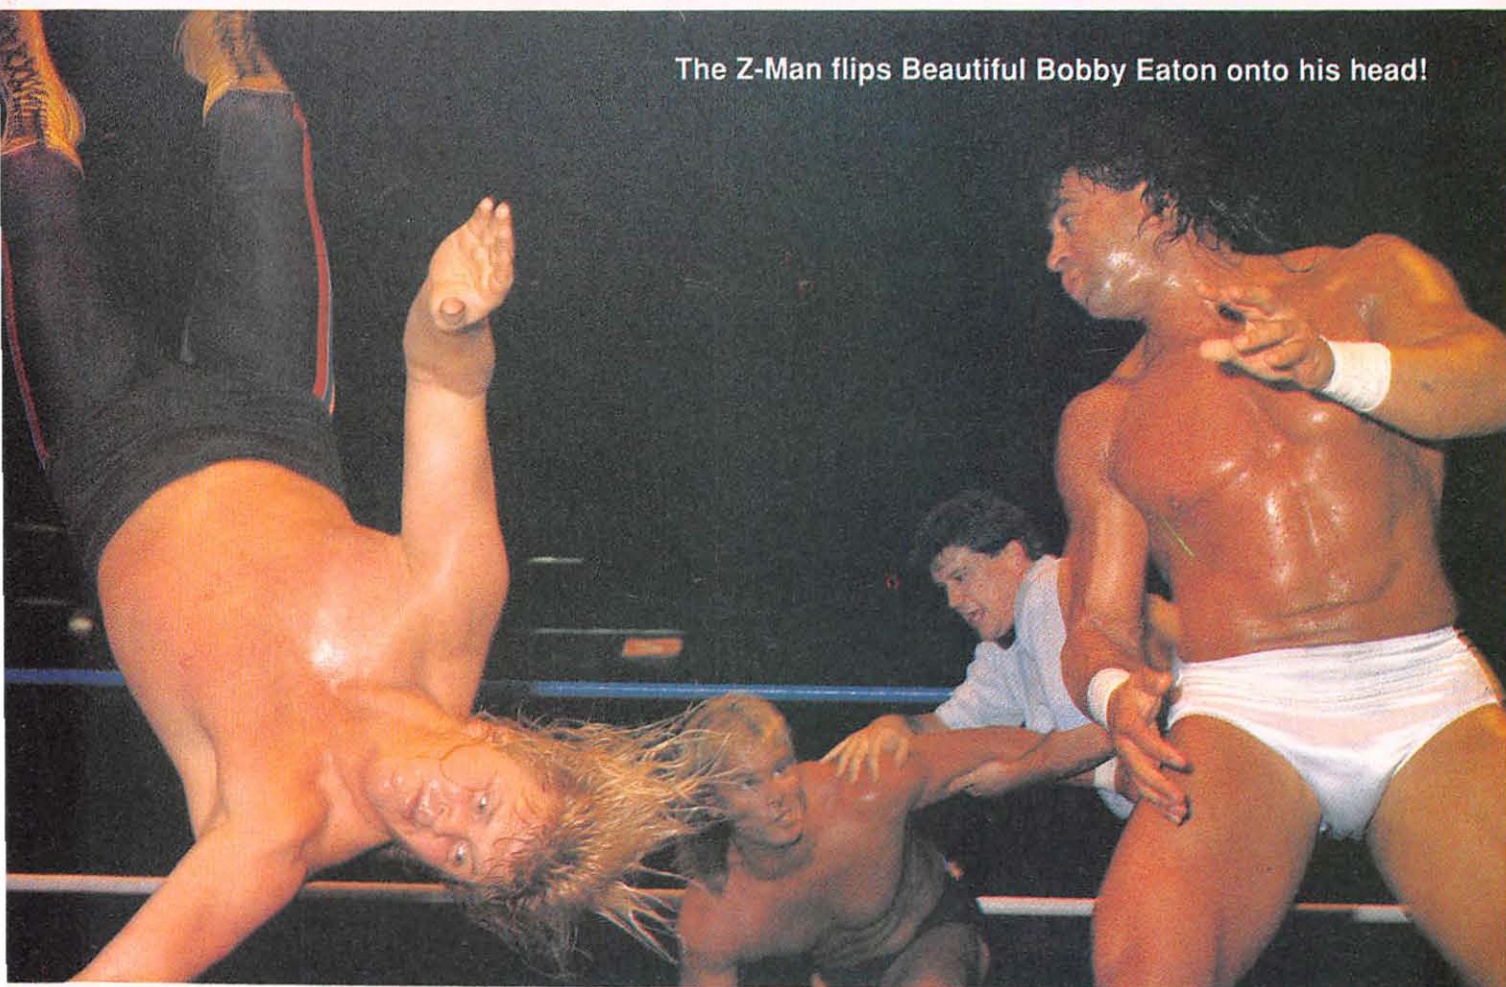

In the main event, Ric Flair gets Lex Luger tied up in the agonizing figure four leg lock!

In a match against Butch Reed, Animal found himself hung up on the ropes, where manager Teddy Long continued to dish out the punishment!

The Z-Man flips Beautiful Bobby Eaton onto his head!

Tiger Mask works on Bret "The Hitman" Hart's arm. The pair battled to a draw.

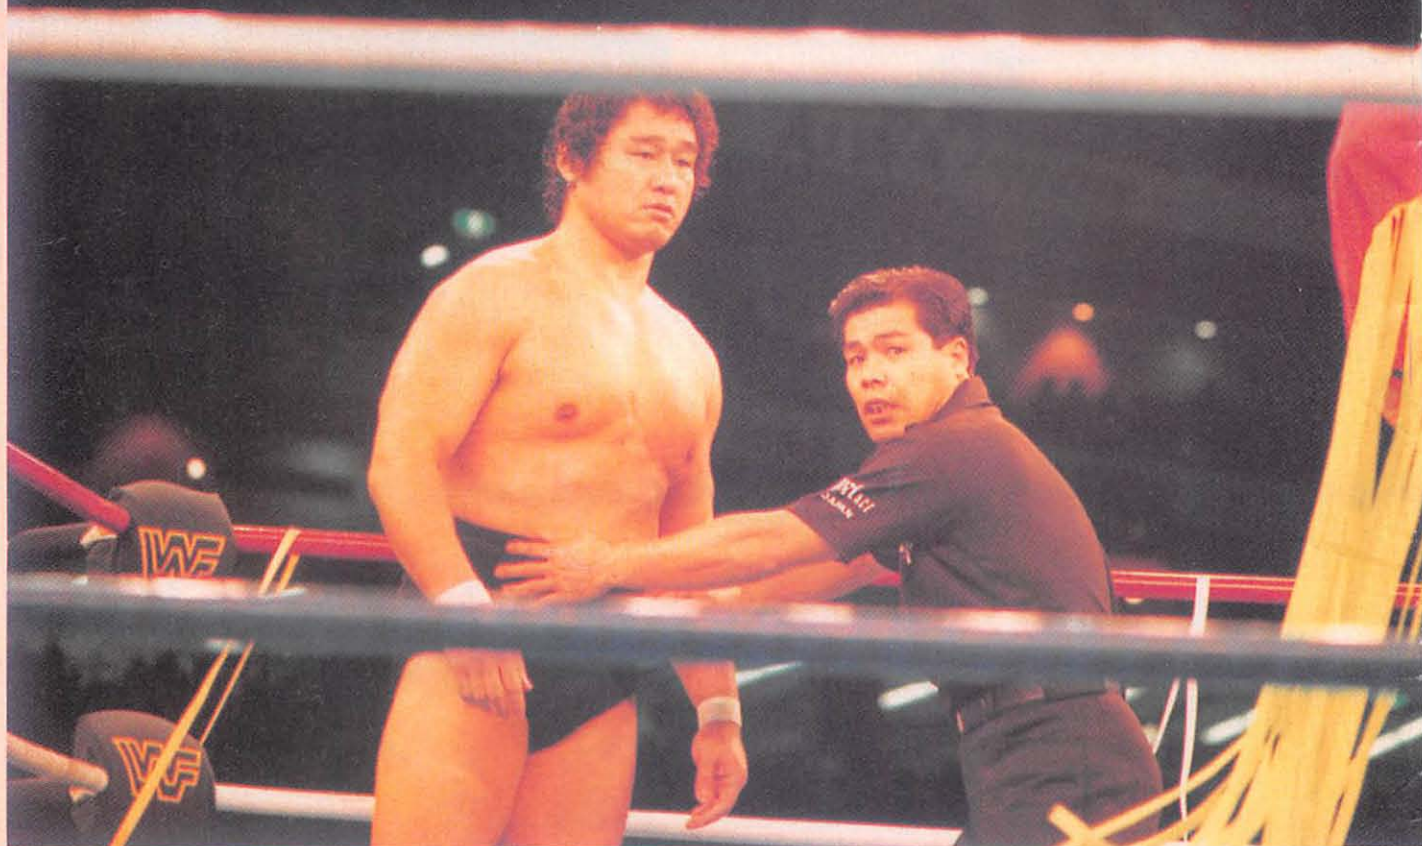

WWF head honcho Vince McMahon addresses the Tokyo crowd to a chorus of boos!

Manager/valet Sensational Sherri grieves over her fallen Macho King. Randy Savage was defeated soundly by Genichiro Penryo.

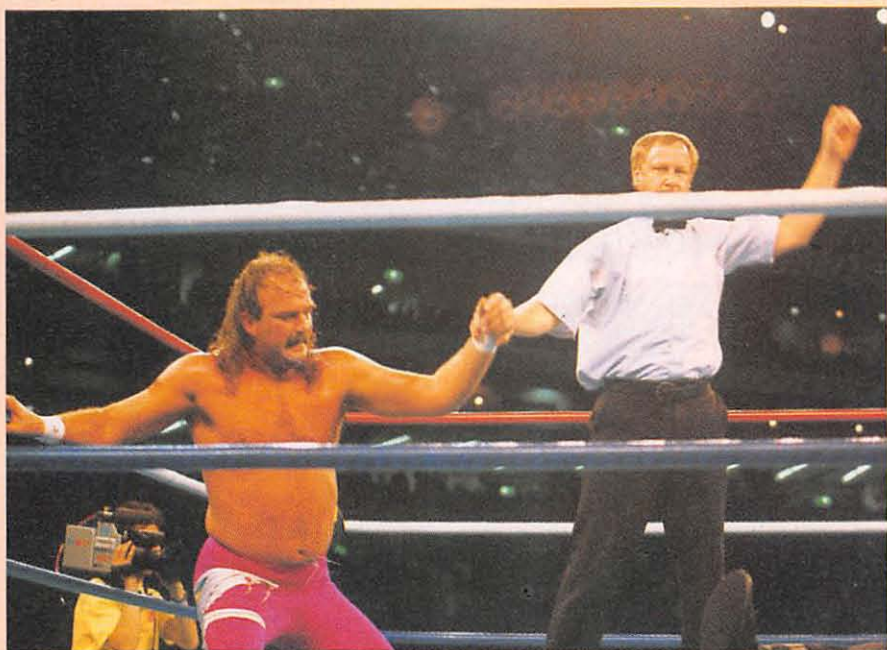

Penryo feels underdressed compared to the flamboyant Savage. It only took the Japanese wrestler ten minutes and forty-nine seconds to take the Macho King apart.

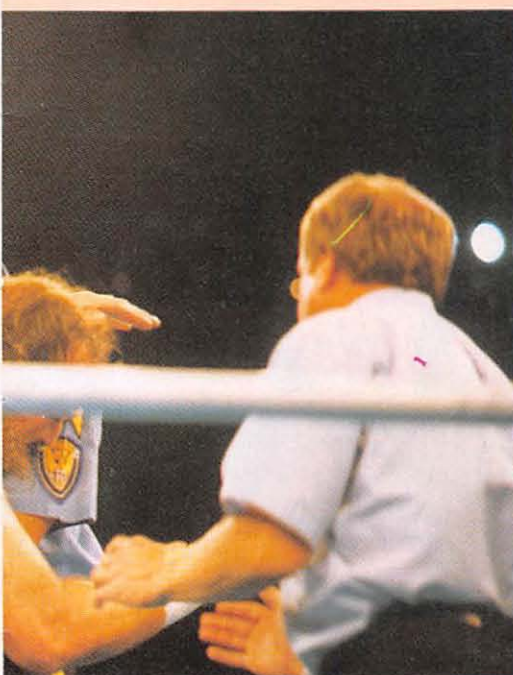

The Great Kabuki (right) defeated Greg "The Hammer" Valentine.

The Big Boss Man gives Jake the Snake the ol' bearhug!

Jake "The Snake" Roberts is declared victorious after he whomped the Big Boss Man.

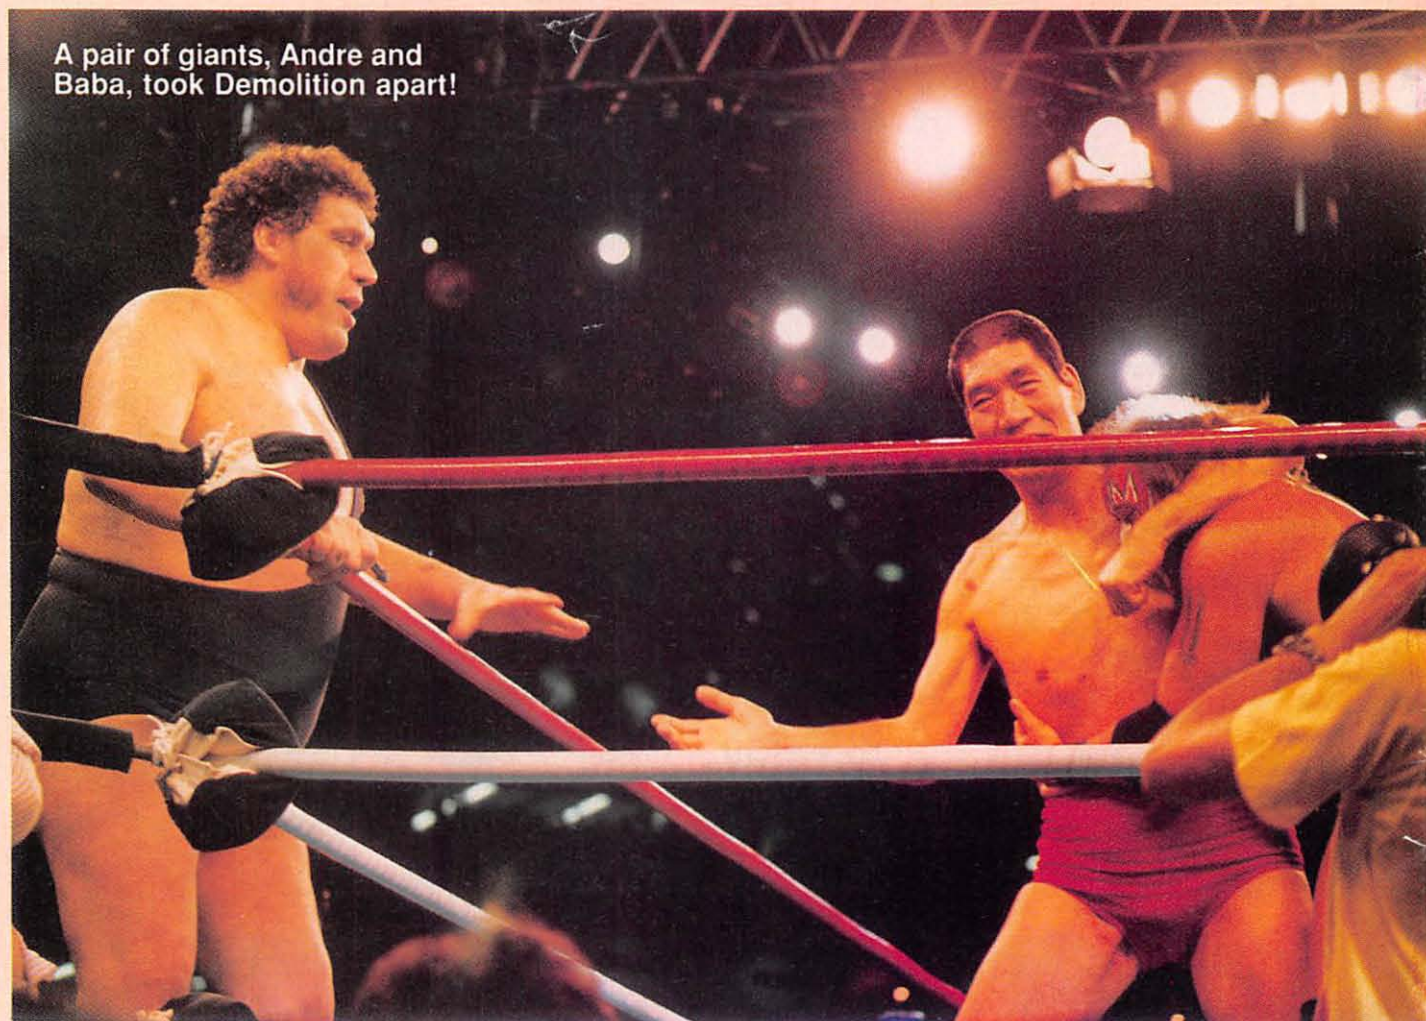

DiBiase lifts the Warrior to his feet by his hair.

In the long run, DiBiase was no match for the Ultimate Warrior's power!

Andre gleefully inflicts pain on Ax.

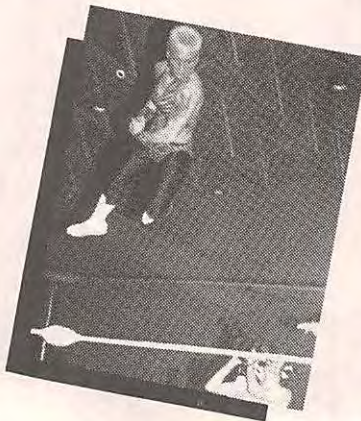

A pair of giants, Andre and Baba, took Demolition apart!

BEEFCAKE vs MARTEL!

Elegance meets arrogance!

Martel is arrogance personified!

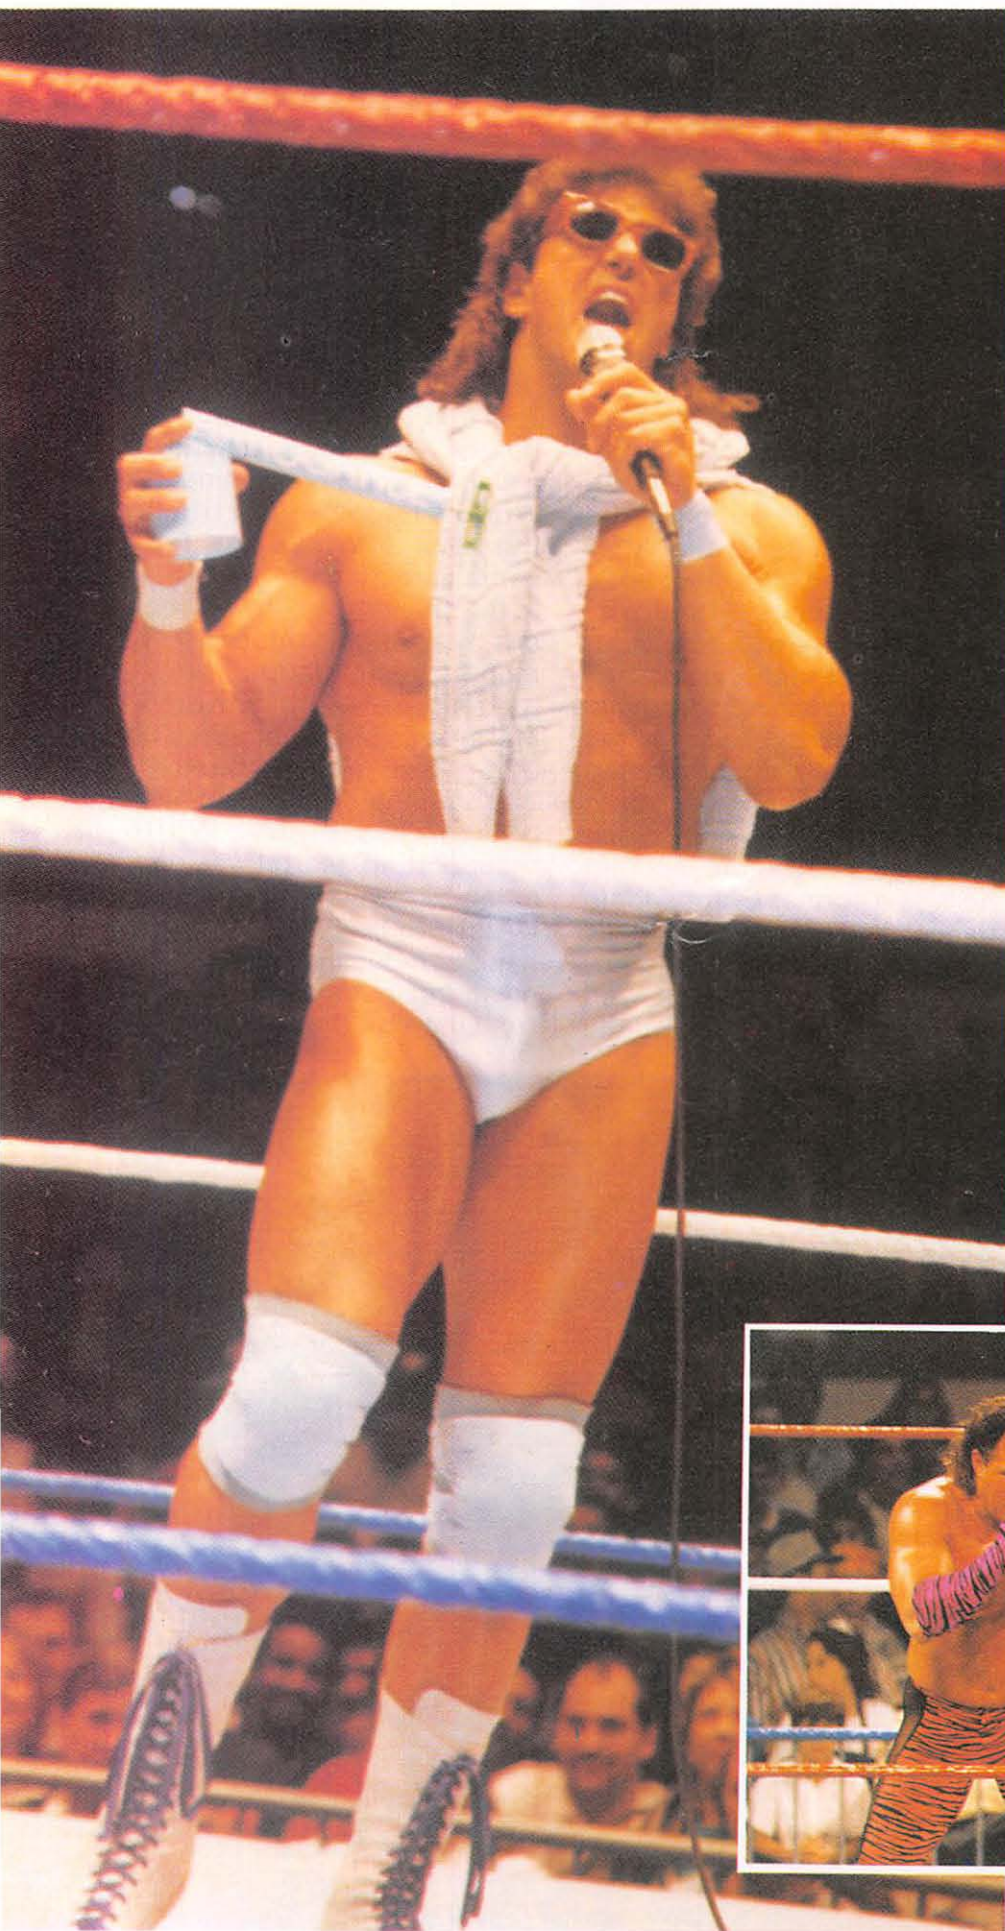

Ever since Ric Martel became a conceited, obnoxious "model," his most persistent foe has been Brutus "The Barber" Beefcake. After examining the careers of both, it's easy to understand why these two are at odds. Watching the model Martel strut his stuff, one is quickly reminded of Brutus Beefcake in his prime. When Beefcake entered the WWF, he was everything Martel is today and more. Beefcake took pride in the fact that he was a former Chippendale dancer, and he would flaunt his assets to the hilt. It took a few years before Beefcake mended his ways and he's been on the side of law and order ever since.

Ric Martel's career is in direct contrast to that of Beefcake. Martel started wrestling at the age of sixteen and was loved by one and all (until his most recent stint in the WWF). Years ago, Martel was involved in very popular and successful WWF championship combinations with Tony Garea, Tom Zinc and Tito Santana. In addition, he was also successful as a singles wrestler, winning the World's Heavyweight title in the AWA. Martel's new look came about in late 1989. Prior to the change, Martel had been out of action for close to six months, recuperating from injuries received in a match. Martel was bitter about the incident and held his partner, Tito Santana, directly responsible for his injury. While recuperating, Martel was egged on by several of his French wrestling buddies to try his hand at modeling. Martel balked at first, but then he gave it a try. Once he did, he loved it.

Brutus "The Barber" Beefcake would love to get his shears on Martel's Latin locks!

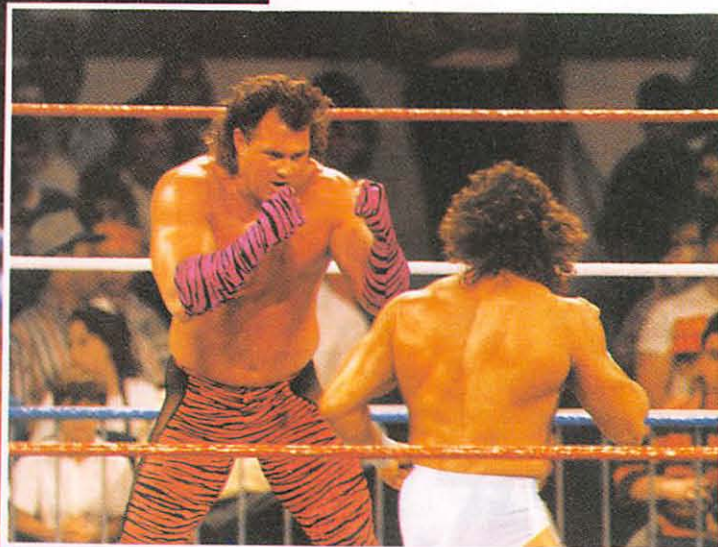

Martel shows off his new cologne "Arrogance." He thinks the stuff smells good. Smells more like tuna fish to us!

When his injuries healed, Martel simply took his modeling act to the wrestling ring.

Upon his return, Martel unveiled his new look. Longtime fans gasped in horror. The thought of seeing their one-time hero as a full-fledged villain didn't sit too well with them, and Martel relished in the fans displeasure. After easily disposing of his former partner, Tito Santana, Martel became involved in his present controversy with Brutus Beefcake. These two have met on several occasions thus far, but their differences have yet to be resolved.

If you listen to Beefcake, however, Ric Martel's days in the WWF are numbered. "I've never seen Brutus so perturbed," one of his long time associates confided. "He hates Ric Martel with a passion. If anyone can get rid of Martel and his arrogant ways, it's Beefcake."

Brutus Beefcake may think that Martel is a pushover, but, as evidenced by the number of titles he's won all over the country, the "model" is one of the best wrestlers in the business. In fact, now that he's got a nasty streak, the model is even tougher to beat than any other time in his career. Even his fellow wrestlers feel that Martel is ready to peak.

Beefcake sez, "Come on, punk! Put up yer dukes!"

After spraying the scent onto himself, Martel does a little dance while the crowd boos!

Martel and Beefcake meet face to face in the squared circle.

"I've been watching Ric Martel for quite a few years and he looks better today than I've ever seen him," stated "Mr. Wonderful" Paul Orndorff. "The man is destined for greatness. I may not like his arrogant ways, but you have to do what you feel will get you to the top. As for his chances against Brutus Beefcake, Beefcake will never be anything more than Hulk Hogan's errand boy. The way I see it, Ric Martel could be the next big superstar in the WWF." Now that's quite a stirring endorsement!

If the model can get by Brutus Beefcake as easily as some people claim, then don't be surprised if you see Ric Martel challenging the Ultimate Warrior for the World's title. It could happen!

COMBAT IN THE NATION'S CAPITAL!

RoboCop called in to uphold the NWA bylaws!

As Flair desperately tries to escape the slaughter of the cage match, Luger lets off a primal scream!

The District of Columbia was taken by storm when the NWA seized control of our nation's capital. Some heavy-duty grapplers laid siege in the D.C. Armory, holding thousands of wrestling fans hostage. Law and order was restored when RoboCop arrived to straighten out the renegade rasslers. "Stay out of trouble," warned the metallic Officer Murphy. Did the NWA stars follow orders? Take a gander at these exclusive RINGSIDE pix and decide for yourself!

Doom-sayer Butch Reed pounds Scott Steiner. After injuring Scott's arm, Doom went on to double-team Rick Steiner and claim the World Tag Team Belts.

A blood-drenched Ric Flair grasps onto the rope for support! Flair would go on to lose by disqualification because of his partner Windham's actions! Nevertheless, he remains World Champion.

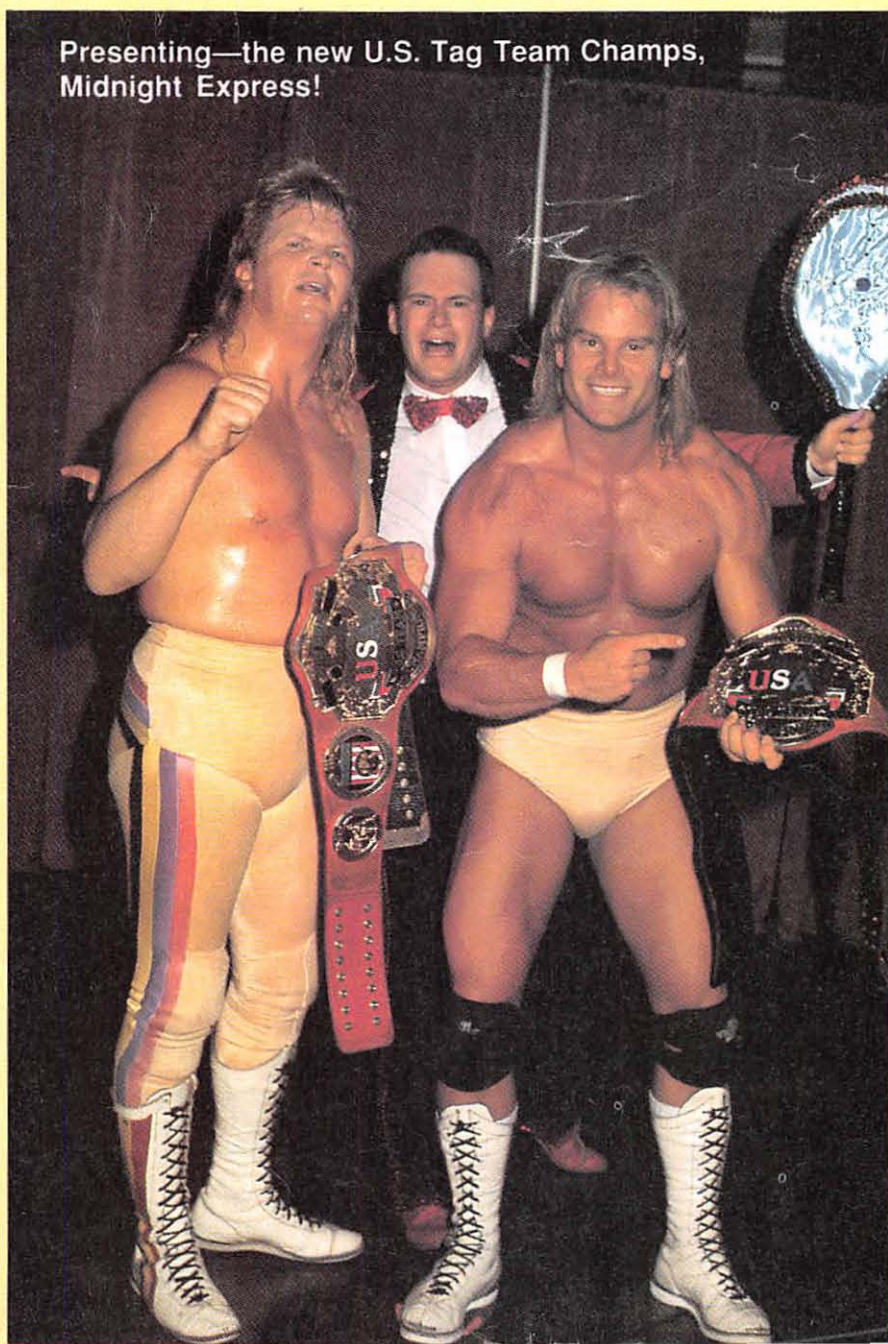

Sting assists Lex Luger after the cage match. During the fight, Luger was ambushed by Barry Windham of the Four Horsemen, who slipped under the cage when it temporarily lifted.

Cactus Jack Manson gives Norman a friendly shove!

Presenting—the new U.S. Tag Team Champs, Midnight Express!
